The RIT Institute Advising Office is dedicated to helping all RIT students explore and identify alternative majors or programs. We provide sound, objective information about RIT's undergraduate programs. The Institute Advising Office supports all phases of the internal transfer process, from preliminary information-gathering to facilitating the actual transfer process.

We work closely with students as well as academic departments. We make sure students are aware of campus resources, and whenever appropriate, we refer students to colleagues in other departments, such as RIT's career counselors. Students leave our office with a detailed checklist of contacts and resources to help ensure informed decision-making.

We are located inside the Registrar's Office in Eastman Building. Appointments are encouraged so that you won't have to wait. Evening hours are available by request. Email or call today to set up an appointment.
