This course is for high school students who will be applying for freshman acceptance into a college art program as artists, photographers, filmmakers, and designers.

It is centered around the process of preparing a college entry art portfolio with emphasis on an in-depth investigation of media, concept development, and critical analysis. Students will draw from life, exploring subject matter such as the human figure, still life, interior space and nature. They will participate in group and individual critiques, conduct visual research, and be guided through the process of portfolio selection and documentation.
