If you're looking for a student organization that fits your interests, look no further than Student Government (SG). Students within the College of Liberal Arts have a variety of ways to participate in SG-related events, committees, or programs. With everything they have to offer, you're bound to find something that sparks your interest!

Public Relations Team (PRT)
Student Government is always looking for talented students with an interest in promoting events for SG. Duties of the PRT include: poster hanging, designing advertisements and flyers, working with the SG Secretary of Public Relations and President to help promote events, creating banners, and much, much more. You'll gain experience in public relations, as well as learn to work under strict deadlines.

COLA special interest floor
Chad Deitz, COLA Senator for the 2002-03 Student Government, has worked hard this year with Dean Laurence Winnie on creating a special interest floor in the residence halls for COLA students. Deitz claims that there is a need for COLA students to feel more unified. “Hopefully the floor will help incoming students feel a little better by actually having other COLA students to talk to,” explained Deitz. It is anticipated that the COLA floor could become a reality sometime during the 2003-2004 academic year. For more information, e-mail Chad at vceor9@hotmail.com.

Professor Evaluation System
SG sponsors the Professor Evaluation System (PES) – an online program available to anybody associated with RIT. This student-maintained program allows students to vote for their favorite RIT professor, check for voting and news updates, and review statistics. COLA users can enter this system to vote and review information by going to www.rit.edu/~webdevww/profeval.

Speak to the Senate
Attention COLA students: if you have a problem, concern, complaint, or just simply wish to voice your opinion to Student Government, come and Speak to the Senate. The first 20 minutes of every Senate meeting (held every Friday in room 1829 of the SAU) are set aside for anyone from the RIT community who wishes to speak to the SG Senate as a whole.

SG on the Web
SG wants to ensure that all COLA students have a chance to feel good about their college and classmates by participating in various programs. The official SG homepage (www.sg.rit.edu) is regularly updated with information about upcoming events, programs, and newsworthy content.

To get involved, drop by the office located in the RITreat of the Student Alumni Union or call 475-2204. They're always looking for interested students!
