- Developing Course Assessments

Interested in developing or redesigning course-level assessments for your semester course? During this 90 minute session facilitated by the Student Learning Outcomes Assessment (SLOA) office, you will review a variety of course assessment options and best practices in matching assessments to course-level learning goals and student learning outcomes. One of the goals of the session is for participants to develop an assessment to measure a course goal and student learning outcome. Bring one course outline form with you which includes course goals and student learning outcomes, and one assignment from the course.
