CO-OP QUICK START GUIDE
Saunders College of Business

About Co-op
Cooperative Education, or co-op, gives you the opportunity to gain meaningful work experience before you graduate! It will also help you further define your career path and fully realize the value of what you are learning in the classroom. Co-op is required for all undergraduate business majors. Co-op typically occurs during the junior and senior year and needs to be full-time, paid work experience in the student’s field of study for either one semester or one full summer (summer minimum 12 weeks). Students need to have been enrolled in the SCB for more than one term, and need to have at least one academic term remaining (12 credit hours) upon their return from co-op. All students must be in good academic standing to be eligible to participate in RIT’s co-op program.

Getting Ready For The Job Search
To prepare for the co-op job search process, you must have taken the Careers in Business Course to learn how to develop the tools (e.g. resume and cover letter) the job search strategies (application and interview techniques) to undertake your search. You will also learn how to use RIT Handshake, the online job posting database available through the student page of our site. You will be able to review and apply to co-op job postings and on-campus interview opportunities through Handshake. The Careers in Business Course is offered to second year and transfer students every term except summer.

How Your Career Services Coordinator Helps
Career services coordinators are assigned to each major and are available year round to assist and advise students with the job search process and any career-related concerns. You can meet with your individual career services coordinator for personalized service, as well as through regularly offered seminars and workshops. Career services coordinators work closely with your academic department and foster relationships with employers and develop employment opportunities. To look up your Career Services Coordinator, go to the Career Services Home page and select “Staff Directory”; then enter your program in the search field. We are here to assist you in securing a co-op job and support you while you are working. Use the staff list on our site to identify your career services coordinator.

When To Begin The Job Search
It’s never too early to begin your co-op job search! Starting 2 terms before you are scheduled to co-op will prepare you to submit your resume to employers who require early resume submission. The term right before your co-op is typically the busiest with resume submissions, interviews and related job search activities.

Create A Profile On RIT Handshake And Upload Your Resume
RIT Handshake is the web-based system used by the Office of Career Services and Cooperative Education and selected employers to post co-op job opportunities. (You will use this same system later on to search for full-time positions upon completion of your degree). Login to Handshake at www.rit.edu/emcs/oce/students using your RIT computer account and password. Complete your profile and store your resume in the system. Developing a new resume is easy: start by reading through the Intro To Resume Writing page of our site (www.rit.edu/emcs/oce/student/resume-writing). That page also provides you with samples for inspiration. Have your career services coordinator review your draft so that it is error-free and effective.
Learning About And Applying To Job Opportunities
Using Handshake, you can view job descriptions and apply to all positions for which you are qualified. Create a search agent to receive notification of new job openings that match your job search profile and apply with a click of a button! Pay attention to the requirements listed by the employer. Some employers will direct you to submit your resume through the company web site – be sure to follow these directions carefully. Keep your options open and avoid limiting yourself to a specific employer or geographic location.

Employer on-campus information sessions, interviewing schedules and special events are also posted on Handshake. You can also view the details of upcoming career fairs and related activities, including workshops on job search topics.

Broadening Your Job Search
The best job search is a comprehensive one. RIT Handshake is only one source of co-op job openings. Look for co-op jobs utilizing other sources: your network of friends, professors, past employers, coaches, clubs and professional associations, and various web sites. We recommend checking our Web Resources page (www.rit.edu/emcs/ose/student/resources/business-mba) for a list of sites for your major. Apply for positions found “on your own” and keep a record of your job applications.

You should always continue your search until you have been offered and accepted a position!

Prepare For Interviews
Brush up on interviewing skills and attend mock interview programs to prepare for the real thing. For sample interview questions, typical interview formats and interviewing tips, please see our interviewing page: (www.rit.edu/emcs/ose/student/interviewing). Remember to send employers a brief thank you note after the interview and follow-up with employers to check on the status of your application. Make sure you have appropriate interview attire and arrive for the interview 15 minutes before scheduled time.

Accepting A Job Offer
Once you accept a co-op job offer, even verbally, you are expected to honor this commitment. You must not back out, or renege on the job, to work for another employer! Make sure you confirm your start and end dates, work hours and other work site expectations with your employer prior to starting your job.

Co-op employers expect RIT and its students to operate according to accepted business ethics and standards. Further, RIT expects your behavior at all times, whether on or off campus to be in accordance with the standards articulated in the RIT Students Rights and Responsibilities Handbook: www.rit.edu/studentaffairs/studentconduct/rr.php and the Student Agreement Policy (found in Handshake).

Reporting Your Co-op
Please follow these steps to report your co-op through our Student web page on the Career Services Office’s Web site:
Go to www.rit.edu/ReportCo-op
Fill in all the information – especially supervisor name and phone number. (Should you arrive on co-op and your supervisor is different than what you reported, our website gives you instructions for updating your supervisor’s name and email address if needed: http://www.rit.edu/emcs/ose/student/notification-registration)
Click on the Submit Notification Information (bottom of form)
This will give you a confirmation page
This will register you in both SIS and our OCE system.
International Students

1) Register for co-op or internship with their academic department in the SIS system.
2) Report their employment information to the Office of Career Services and Cooperative Education through the student page www.rit.edu/ReportCo-op
3) Additional permission to participate in curricular practical training must be granted by an ISS advisor prior to the employment start date. Students must:
   - Submit the Online CPT Request Form along with a copy of their job offer letter and a screen shot of their registration in SIS. The registration must be for the term(s) in which you are requesting Curricular Practical Training.

When this information is received an ISS advisor will create a new SEVIS I-20 with CPT Authorization on it. You will receive an email when the new I-20 is available to be picked up in International Student Services.

Your Co-op Salary And Income Tax Information

Your employer determines your compensation level. Salary rates are based on a number of variables, including your academic major, year level, prior work experiences and established company policies. There may be some room for negotiation based on circumstances. Check our website for the latest co-op salary data listed by academic program (www.rit.edu/emcs/oce/students/salary). According to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS), salaries/wages paid to co-op students are fully subject to applicable federal and state income taxes.

1099s and W-2s: Breaking Down the Difference

Simply put, 1099s and W-2s are two separate tax forms for two different types of workers. If you’re an independent contractor, you get a 1099 form. If you’re an employee, you receive a W-2.

As a W-2 employee, payroll taxes are automatically deducted from your paycheck and then paid to the government through your employer. If you’re a contractor, you are responsible for calculating your own payroll taxes and then submitting the sum to the government on a quarterly basis.

Your Co-op Evaluation – Receiving Credit

Once the co-op is complete, an employer evaluation AND a student work report are due. You will receive the message below in your email from RIT Co-op Evaluations, don’t delete it, please read it and complete your evaluation. “ACTION REQUIRED. RIT Student Work Report.”

PROCESS: Once you submit your Student Work Report and your employer submits the Employer Evaluation, your academic department will review your Work Report. Please spend the appropriate time on this report. It will be accepted or rejected by your faculty advisor based on your thoughtful responses.

Once accepted, your department will then submit an "S" grade for your co-op. Please note, your department may not review the forms and submit your grade until the end of the term.

DOUBLE BLOCK: You must submit the Student Work Report and your employer must submit the Employer Evaluation for each individual term of the double block. This will allow your department to review the forms and give you an "S" grade for each individual term.

REJECTED WORK REPORTS: If necessary, you will be able to correct a rejected work report so that it can then be accepted by your department and you can be given and "S" grade.”
How Financial Aid Works While You Are On Co-op
RIT does not charge tuition for enrollment in cooperative education. With the exception of the federal Pell Grant, most forms of financial aid are not awarded for semesters of co-op employment. Financial aid includes federal and private alternative loans as well as grants and scholarships. If you have concerns pertaining to your living expenses during your co-op term, please contact your Financial Aid Counselor to discuss some various strategies as to how to cover these costs. If you are a Pell grant recipient, the grant will credit to your student account after the drop/add period for the term. You must register your co-op on the Registrar’s system and report your co-op on our website. Your co-op earnings will not negatively impact your eligibility for federal student aid in the subsequent year. You are asked on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to report earnings from a co-op. The reported co-op earnings will automatically be excluded from your adjusted gross income when calculating your expected family contribution (EFC). If you have any questions regarding your co-op earnings and financial aid, please contact your Financial Aid Counselor at ritaid@rit.edu.

Work Abroad
If you are working outside of the United States and are not returning to your home country, you are required to meet with Maria Richart to make sure you sign all the correct paperwork before leaving the US. Meeting can be arranged by calling 475-2301 or email maria.richart@rit.edu

Housing While On Co-op And When You Return To Campus
Students who co-op in Rochester may stay in RIT housing. Students who co-op out of town are typically responsible for finding their own housing near the employer’s location. Some companies provide housing assistance in the form of subsidies or housing allowances, or space in locations they own or rent for this purpose. Most employers will at least provide a list of apartments or housing options to assist students.

Students who return from co-op are guaranteed on-campus housing, if they were in RIT housing prior to leaving for co-op, however, preferences are not guaranteed. RIT Housing Operations communicates with students via email and provides information on how to apply for housing when you return to campus finweb.rit.edu/housing/.

Concerns On Co-op
Dealing with stressful and uncomfortable situations can be part of the workplace learning experience. As with every other aspect of experiential learning, the Institute and your Career Services Coordinator are here to support and guide you as necessary. If you encounter a concern, we encourage you to contact your Career Services Coordinator so we may offer advice or assistance in resolving the matter. It is important to address issues as they arise, rather than postpone such a discussion or ignore the problem. Examples of workplace issues that we can assist with range from coaching you on how to talk with supervisors regarding your work related concerns, how to address conflicts on your team as well as discrimination and harassment complaints. Be sure to call or email us if you have any questions or concerns.
