Rochester Institute of Technology
Self-Study Design Plan
Presented to

Middle States Commission on Higher Education

June 3, 2015
Institutional Overview

As one of the world’s leading technological institutions, Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) is a vibrant, connected community that is home to approximately 18,000 diverse, ambitious, and creative students representing all 50 states and more than 100 countries. RIT offers a wide array of academic programs; a diverse, committed, and accessible faculty; sophisticated facilities; and a strong emphasis on experiential learning.

RIT is guided by the following vision and mission, which was approved in November 2014 by the Board of Trustees as part of RIT’s Strategic Plan entitled “Greatness Through Difference (2015-2025):”

Mission: Through a unique blend of curricular, experiential, and research programs delivered within a student-centric culture, RIT prepares its students for successful careers in a global society.

Vision: RIT will be a great world university whose academic portfolio, research agenda, and educational model align with the shifting needs of a complex planet.

RIT is internationally recognized as a leader in engineering and technology, business, computing, imaging, the visual arts, science, and health sciences, and as the home of the National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID). RIT offers more than 200 academic programs across nine colleges and two degree-granting units: http://www.rit.edu/colleges.html. Recognized by US News & World Report as a top regional northern university for the past 30 years, RIT is ranked in the top ten schools nationally for cooperative education and internships. Numerous RIT academic programs have been acknowledged for excellence by leading college guides, industries, and internationally respected publications: http://www.rit.edu/overview/rankings-and-recognition. Given the increase in the number of doctoral degrees awarded by RIT’s seven doctoral programs, it is anticipated that RIT will move from its current basic Carnegie Classification of Master’s/L: Master’s Colleges and Universities (larger programs) to one of the classifications for doctorate granting universities. The Chronicle of Higher Education also recognized RIT in the “Great Colleges to Work For” Program in 2008, 2009, 2011 and 2012.

As a world leader in experiential education, RIT’s cooperative education program is the fourth oldest and one of the largest programs in the world. More than 4,100 students annually participate in more than 6,100 cooperative education (co-op) assignments across the United States and overseas. These programs are generally full-time, paid work experiences directly related to students’ courses of study and career interests. Additionally, students participate in internships, research opportunities, and study abroad experiences.

RIT is committed to a diverse student body and inclusive campus community. We are expanding opportunities for global education, international connections, work experience and cultural exchanges. The University has an established history of global education, offering undergraduate and graduate degree programs in Dubrovnik and Zagreb in Croatia and Pristina, Kosovo since 1997 and 2003, respectively. In 2008, RIT established a location in Dubai in partnership with the United Arab Emirates Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research (MOHESR). In addition to these international venues, students may also choose from over 400 programs in 50 counties for their study abroad experience, either directly through RIT programming or through our partner institutions.
I. Model for Self-Study

RIT has chosen to adopt the comprehensive self-study review model. This is a requirement for the fifteen institutions invited to participate in the Collaborative Implementation Project. RIT recently adopted a new, ambitious strategic plan, and the comprehensive self-study model will allow us to be intentional about using that plan as a lens through which we will conduct our rigorous, comprehensive review. In particular, we will use the institution’s strategic plan priorities developed by a representative group of students, faculty, and staff and endorsed by the governance groups and the Board of Trustees, to guide us as we formulate our “research questions” for the working groups.

RIT’s new Strategic Plan, “Greatness through Difference (2015-2025)” was built on the foundations of RIT’s current strengths and intentional aspirations, and so using it as a backdrop to the Self-Study will allow us to not only concentrate on RIT’s strategic priorities, but also to identify gaps that may exist in the University’s readiness to implement these priorities as well as concrete ways that the University can pursue continuous improvement in these key areas. The results of the Working Group reports will then provide RIT with tangible steps to be taken in order to meet the goals that it has set in the Strategic Plan. For these reasons, and many more, the comprehensive model of self-study will serve RIT well at this particular juncture of its history.

II. Intended Outcomes of the Self-Study

RIT has been invited to participate in the Middle States Collaborative Implementation Project (CIP) in which we will “pilot” seven new standards of accreditation. Therefore, our primary intended outcome of the Self-Study is to demonstrate compliance with the new standards. We are also guided in this regard by RIT’s new Strategic Plan. While it would be unwieldy to focus on the entire Strategic Plan, which consists of five dimensions, 33 difference makers and 117 objectives, we have chosen to focus on those designated as institutional priorities including: Dimension I: Career Education and Student Success; Dimension III: Leveraging Difference; and Dimension IV: Affordability, Value, and Return on Investment.

Given these considerations, the intended outcomes for our Self-Study are as follows:

1. Demonstrate how RIT meets the new MSCHE accreditation standards.

2. Capitalize on overlapping efforts of RIT’s new Strategic Plan and MSCHE Self-Study to advance RIT’s strategic priorities, identify gaps in the University’s readiness to implement such priorities and recommend opportunities to achieve institutional mission and goals.

3. Review RIT’s outcomes-based institutional assessment practices and make recommendations to expand or refine institutional assessment practices to guide planning, resource allocation, and institutional improvement.
III. Organizational Structure

The Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) decennial evaluation team is organized into a Steering Committee of 16 individuals that represents an excellent cross-section of the campus community including students, faculty, and staff. The co-chairs and Steering Committee were invited to participate by President William Destler. Ms. Karen Barrows, the Secretary for the Institute and Chief of Staff to the President, will serve as a direct liaison to the President’s Office, and Dr. Christine Licata, Senior Associate Provost, serves as RIT’s Accreditation Liaison Officer for MSCHE. The two co-chairs of the decennial evaluation review process are Drs. Anne Wahl, Assistant Provost for Assessment and Accreditation, and Michael Laver, Associate Professor of History, College of Liberal Arts and current Chair of RIT’s Academic Senate. The lists below depict the membership of the Steering Committee as well as the organizational hierarchy of the decennial evaluation re-accreditation process. Please note that in addition to the Document Roadmap that every institution is required to use, we thought it necessary and wise to make use of the tremendous amount of institutional memory and individual expertise of those campus members not formally included in the Steering Committee or the Working Groups in what we are calling an “RIT People Library.” These are individuals that will serve as resources for the Working Groups as they pursue their research and write their reports.

Working Groups

In support of the Steering Committee, we have formed one Working Group for each of the seven standards. We have also formed an additional Working Group that will work exclusively on the Requirements of Affiliation. Each member of the Working Groups was formally invited to participate by the co-chairs. As with the Steering Committee, we were intentional about including a good balance of faculty and staff from diverse functions and backgrounds, including gender, race, and level of seniority. Each Working Group has a designated chair and a liaison from the Steering Committee who will facilitate efficiency of communication.
The membership of each Working Group is provided in the Standard Working Group charge in Section V.

Organizational Structure

The following visual representation is RIT’s organizational structure for the Self-Study:
All Working Group charges follow the same format and include the general charge below. Each Working Group also includes its own specific membership list and research questions as formulated by the Steering Committee. Individual Working Group charges follow the general charge.

Working Group Charge: Standard Name

The Working Group will engage in a process of open inquiry related to the Standard to develop a report for RIT’s Self-Study as part of the MSCHE Decennial Evaluation process. The Working Group will focus on analyzing documents and reviewing institutional processes and procedures to determine first and foremost if the Standard is met. The Working Groups will also, through the research questions, advance the priorities in RIT’s new Strategic Plan, identify institutional strengths, and make recommendations for improvement. To assist the Working Group, the Self-Study Steering Committee will provide a timeline, guidelines, and the report template.

Each Working Group has a designated chair that coordinates the work to complete the section of the Self-Study report. At least one Steering Committee member is available to each Working Group as a Standard Liaison. This design will enhance communication and provide direct support in the form of guidance and information to the Working Group. The Working Group can outreach and work with other Working Groups and Steering Committee members as well as individuals, groups, and committees identified in our People Library (see Documentation Roadmap) as appropriate and needed. The Working Group members, Chair, and Standard Liaison are identified in the chart below.

Each Working Group will use the Documentation Roadmap as primary source material to support its inquiry and analysis. The roadmap includes the Standard criteria and serves as an annotated inventory of reports, assessment and planning data, enrollment and financial information, policies and procedures, and other resources that the Working Groups will use. The Working Group will identify any perceived gaps in the inventory and gather additional documents as they complete their work.

Institutions that address the new Standards must demonstrate compliance with the new Requirements of Affiliation as part of their evaluation process. The institution’s presentation of evidence for compliance with the Requirements of Affiliation will be undertaken through:

1. Verification of institutional compliance with accreditation-relevant federal regulations, or
2. The institutional self-study report and subsequent evaluation team visit

MSCHE has provided the following guidelines as to which requirements of affiliation will be handled through a compliance review and which will be handles directly within the Self-Study report. The following Requirements of Affiliation 1-6 and 14 will be addressed through an expanded compliance review.

1. Authorization to operate
2. Institution is operational
3. Graduate one class before accreditation
4. Communicate with the Commission in English
5. Comply with government policies, regulations, and requirements
6. Comply with Commission policies
14. Governing body provides information

Requirements of Affiliation 7-13 and 15 will be addressed through the Self-Study, in connection with related Standards. These requirements are:

7. Statement of Mission and Goals
8. Evaluation of Educational and Other Programs
9. Assessment of Student Learning Programs

15. Core of faculty to ensure continuity and coherence of educational programs

For the Requirements of Affiliation 1-6 and 14, the Working Group will review, gather, summarize, and analyze key sources of relevant documentation and institutional processes and procedures to demonstrate that RIT complies with the new Requirements of Affiliation. They will use the Documentation Roadmap (see Section XI) as primary source material to support their inquiry and analysis. The Working Group will work directly with the Standard Working Groups for the Requirements of Affiliation 7-13 and 15, to demonstrate compliance through the Working Group reports.
VI. Guidelines for Reporting

Working Group Guidelines

The Working Groups have the following key deliverables and projected timeline:

- Complete Documentation Roadmap: September 2015 - April 2016
- Submit Mid-Process Progress Report to Steering Committee: January 2016
- Develop Working Group Report Initial Draft: May-June 2016

Working Group Report –Template

Each working group will receive a report template with the following prescribed sections for their report:

1. An overview of the group’s charge, defining the scope of its tasks and responsibilities in relation to its assigned Standard for Accreditation
2. Discussion of the connection of the group’s charge with those of other groups, and if any collaboration between groups that took place
3. Analytical discussion of the data reviewed and the inquiry undertaken, and the group’s conclusions, including strengths and challenges
4. Explanation of how the group’s conclusions related to the assigned Standard for Accreditation
5. Recommendations for ongoing institutional improvement
VII. Organization of the Self-Study Report

The final Self-Study will reflect an institutional perspective that focuses on RIT’s self-analyses, determination if meeting the standards, future recommendations, and plans to support and guide the institution’s strategic priorities. The Self-Study will consist of four major sections: Executive Summary, Introduction, Individual Standard Analyses and Recommendations, and the Conclusion.

- The Executive Summary will provide a brief (1-5 pages) summary of the major findings and recommendations of the Self-Study.
- The Introduction will be a brief overview of the institution and description of the Self-Study process.
- The Individual Standard Analyses and Recommendations will include the following information for each Standard:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Standard 1: Mission and Goals</th>
<th>• Heading indicating the Standard under consideration</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Standard 2: Ethics and Integrity</td>
<td>• Cross-references to relevant materials in other parts of the report</td>

The Conclusion section will provide a summary of the major conclusions reached and the institution’s recommendations for self-improvement.
VIII. Editorial Style and Format

Guidelines are provided to facilitate consistency of style across all documents (i.e., Working Group drafts, supporting documentation, and the final Self Study report). Writing and editing the Self Study is a multi-phase activity and will include input and feedback from the entire RIT community. Final editorial changes will be made by the MSCHE Core Team.

While the Steering Committee will be responsible for the final Self-Study Report, each Working Group will be responsible for writing a draft report for its assigned standards. In order to ensure that each section is well-written, concise, and fits well with the Self-Study document as a whole, each Working Group will assign one person as the primary writer for its standard and use the following specifications:

- Microsoft Word for text with embedded tables
- 12-point Calibri font
- Single-spaced with 1.15 spacing for bullets and numbering
- Left justified
- Moderate margins (1.0” top and 0.75” left, right, and bottom margins)
- Present tense with active voice
- Citations embedded within the text, with supporting documents listed in an appendix.
- Main headings in bold and in capital letters, left justified; all headers in 12-point font
- Sub-headings in italics and in upper and lower case, left justified; all headers in 12-point font
- Page numbers will be listed on the bottom of the page in the middle
- Tables will be numbered and titled

X. Profile of the Evaluation Team

The following constitutes a list of individuals whom we believe would be in a position to conduct a fair and accurate peer review of the Rochester Institute of Technology. The profile, in aggregate, takes into account RIT’s strengths as well as a number of strategic initiatives that the university has identified through the strategic planning process.

1. A provost-level administrator from an AITU school or similar institution

Requirement of Affiliation

12. The institution fully discloses its legally constituted governance structure(s) including any related entities (including without limitation systems, religious sponsorship, and corporate ownership). The institution’s governing body is responsible for the quality and integrity of the institution and for ensuring that the institution’s mission is being carried out.

13. A majority of the institution’s governing body’s members have no employment, family, ownership, or other personal financial interest in the institution. The governing body adheres to a conflict of interest policy that assures that those interests are disclosed and that they do not interfere with the impartiality of governing body members or outweighs the greater duty to secure and ensure the academic and fiscal integrity of the institution. The institution’s district/system or other chief executive officer shall not serve as the chair of the governing body.
Compliance Review: Requirements of Affiliation 1-6, 14

To be eligible for, to achieve, and to maintain accreditation from the MSCHE, an institution must demonstrate that it fully meets the following Requirements of Affiliation. Compliance is expected to be continuous and will be validated periodically, typically at the time of institutional self-study and during and other evaluation of the institution’s compliance. Once eligibility is verified, an institution then must demonstrate that it meets the standards for accreditation.
