Student Announcement

TO: RIT Students

FROM: Bill Destler, RIT President

SUBJECT: Immunization requirements

Sept. 7, 2009

Welcome to the 2009-2010 academic year! I know the coming year will be full of opportunities and excitement as you move forward in your collegiate career.

As a member of the RIT community, we are concerned about your health. We are working diligently to be in compliance with New York State Public Health Law. RIT students must be compliant with all immunization requirements no later than October 7, 2009 in order to continue the classes in which you are enrolled this Fall quarter.

You may disregard this memo if the Student Health Center has verified your compliance. If you are uncertain, please contact the Center at 585-475-2255 to find out what you need to do specifically for compliance.

Your immediate attention to this matter is critical. You may also visit the Student Health Center Website for more information:

Important note: To protect the welfare of the campus community, failure to comply means that you will be withdrawn from your classes, unable to live in campus housing or participate in extra-curricular activities.

Let's stay healthy in 2009-2010!
