

Study in Germany taking courses in English

RIT Exchange Program Leuphana Universität Lüneburg

Leuphana University is known for sustainability, and has incorporated this value into all facets of its teaching and research. With a focus on interdisciplinary studies, students have the flexibility of taking courses from any of the 13 academic majors and 16 minor programs. Several degree programs are taught entirely in English, including Global Environmental & Sustainability Studies, Digital Media, and International Business Administration & Entrepreneurship. Exchange students have the option to participate in a 4 week language and orientation program before the start of each semester.
