University Exploration Director’s Discretionary Fund

For students with a small amount of financial need, University Exploration has available the Director’s Discretionary Fund. University Exploration students are eligible to apply following the criteria listed below. Only one award will be granted either in the fall or spring of any given academic year. Examples of how to use this fund could include money for textbooks or online textbook licensing, tutoring fees, graphing calculators, or any student-success related request. Student applicants are encouraged to set up a Tiger Bucks account for easy and fast transfer of the funds if awarded. The amount awarded will be determined by University Exploration and may not be identical to the request.

- Eligible students must be currently enrolled in University Exploration (UINT/UNIVST-UND)
- Eligible students must be in progress, or have completed one full-time semester at RIT (12 credit hours earned)
- Students must be in academic good standing, with a cumulative grade point average of a 2.5 or higher
- Students may receive this award only once
- An application is required
- An interview is required and may be requested by contacting Ms. Susan Lindsay at slbsse@rit.edu

This award was founded in 2014 through a donation from an RIT alumnus interested in supporting exploring students and their success at RIT. Additional donations to this fund can be made at any time through the RIT Office of Development and Alumni Relations.
