

The 137th Commencement

Commencement

May 6-7, 2022

I offer my warmest congratulations to our graduates!

You have worked diligently to get to this moment; this commencement serves a capstone to your hard work, commitment, and dedication. Today's world needs people who know how to create and innovate, analyze and implement, collaborate and lead. You, the Class of 2022, are those people.

Completing your degree marks not just an end. It is also a beginning. Many of you will immediately enter productive careers, while others may go on to further your education.

Upon leaving RIT, you will have opportunities for lifelong learning, achieving new goals, and bettering your community. Whatever your next step, I hope when you reflect on your time at RIT, your memories will be of your favorite professors and staff, lasting friendships, and a feeling of pride and fulfillment.

All of us at RIT—faculty, staff, and trustees—congratulate you and your families and wish you much continued success.

David C. Munson Jr.

David C. Munson, Jr.
President

Congratulations to the Class of 2022!

You have achieved a significant milestone—you earned your RIT degree!

Throughout your journey, you showed strength, resilience, and creativity. On behalf of the faculty and staff, thank you for the opportunity to be your teachers, mentors, and friends. We are all very proud of you.

You are ready to embark on the next chapter of your life and career. As you leave RIT, we urge you to stay curious and socially conscious. Added to the foundation of your RIT education, this mindset will help you continue to shape the future wherever you go.

We look forward to maintaining a close relationship, as you are now RIT for life. Please keep in touch and let us know how we can continue to support your academic and professional journey.

Sincerely,

Ellen Granberg

Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs

Alumni

Whether recent or long graduated, alumni fill a forever role with their alma mater. A lifelong relationship with RIT begins from day one; students becoming alumni while forging bonds with each other and the university each step along their individual journeys. Year after year, our RIT family grows with each alumni member further bolstered by the opportunities and connections gained both at and after RIT. We are all Tigers and our great alumni make us proud.

Congratulations Tigers!

On behalf of the RIT Alumni Association, we welcome you to the alumni family. As you embark on the next chapter of your life, know that you are joining a thriving network of over 140,000 alumni worldwide.

Your relationship with RIT doesn't end when you cross the stage. The RIT Alumni Association promotes a life-long connection between alumni and the university. We invite you to join the thousands of other proud alumni who volunteer, attend alumni events, take advantage of alumni benefits, and continue to support the areas of RIT that mean the most to them. Your active participation in the Alumni Association helps strengthen the RIT community worldwide.

Stay Informed. Stay Involved. Stay Connected. Stay Engaged.

To get the latest updates from campus and invitations to RIT alumni events and programs worldwide, update your contact information with the Office of Alumni Relations using the QR code or by visiting rit.edu/alumni/update. And don't forget to follow us on Instagram (@rit.alumni), Twitter (@RIT_Alumni), and Facebook (RIT Alumni Association), and connect with the Alumni Association on LinkedIn.

Once again, congratulations and best wishes for much success in the future.

Academic Ceremonies and Dress

The colorful ceremonies of Rochester Institute of Technology's Commencement derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. The academic dress and the processional reflect the costume and influences when the first universities were organized in Bologna, Paris, and Oxford, and the first convocations of faculty, clergy, and students were held. Old prints and engravings reveal an astonishing similarity between academic costume worn at the early universities and the gowns, hoods, and caps worn today. Civilian dress, as well as clerical garb, has affected the development of academic costume, and in recent years colleges and universities have instituted a code governing collegiate dress in order to ensure a reasonable conformity.

Gowns and caps, or "mortarboards," are worn by those being awarded or holding the associate and bachelor's degrees; gowns, caps, and hoods are worn by those holding master's and doctoral degrees. The usual color is black, and the fashion of the gown designates the degree held by the wearer: the associate and bachelor's have long, pointed sleeves; the master's has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist; and the doctoral has bell-shaped sleeves. There are no trimmings for the bachelor's or master's gowns; the doctoral has a facing of black velvet down the front and three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The tassel on the doctoral cap is gold, while the colors for associate, bachelor's and master's degrees are black and orange.

Hoods are faced with velvet in the color of the degree to be awarded: white for arts and letters, orange for engineering, brown for fine arts, yellow for science, tan for business, and light blue for education. The color lining the hood is that of the institution granting the degree; in the case of RIT, it is black and orange. Customarily, bachelor's degree candidates do not wear a hood at the academic ceremonies; the holders of master's and doctoral degrees wear hoods, and that of the doctoral is longer. Various colored hoods denote student honor societies.

The dress of the university students who are candidates for the associate and bachelor's degrees is relatively similar. Candidates for the master's degree wear hoods with the distinguishing colors of the academic discipline pursued as trimming. The faculty dress reflects the variety of degrees held and the diversity of educational institutions from which they have received their degrees.

Mace Bearer Statement 2022

The maces used in the ceremonies are being carried by the following members of RIT's faculty: College of Art and Design—Frank Cost, James E. McGhee Professor, program director of visual media BFA, School of Photographic Arts and Sciences; Saunders College of Business—A. Erhan Mergen, Ph.D., professor, department of management; Golisano College of Computing and Information Sciences—James Heliotis, Ph.D., Professor, department of computer science; Kate Gleason College of Engineering—Bruce Smith, Ph.D., professor, department of electrical and microelectronic engineering; College of Engineering Technology—Scott Wolcott, Ph.D., professor, department of civil engineering technology, environmental management and safety; College of Health Sciences and Technology—James Perkins, MFA, professor; department of medical sciences, health, and management; College of Liberal Arts—Timothy Engström, Ph.D., professor, department of philosophy; National Technical Institute for the Deaf—Gerald C. Bateman, Ph.D., professor, master of science in secondary education; College of Science—Joshua Faber, Ph.D., professor, School of Mathematical Sciences; School of Individualized Study—Jenn Poggi, assistant professor and SOIS Faculty Fellow, School of Photographic Arts and Sciences, College of Art and Design; Golisano Institute for Sustainability—Eric Williams, Ph.D., professor, department of sustainability; Doctoral Hooding Ceremony—Guiping Hu, Ph.D., professor, department of sustainability.

Academic Honors

Undergraduate students graduating with honors are indicated with an asterisk (*). The designations that appear in this publication are based on a student's GPA at the end of the preceding fall semester. Final honors designations will be posted to the undergraduate student's academic record and reflected on their transcript based upon the cumulative GPA upon certification of the completion of degree requirements. Because the final honors designations cannot be computed until all degree requirements are fulfilled and final grades are processed, honors designations may differ on the student's diploma.

The numerical criteria for graduation with honors is as follows:

- Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.40-3.59 (*)
- Magna Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.60-3.79 ()
- Summa Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.80-4.0 ()

Undergraduate students graduating from the RIT Honors Program are designated in the Commencement Book with the § symbol. To graduate from the RIT Honors Program, students must fulfill all degree program requirements and Honors Program requirements as outlined below:

- GPA of 3.5 or higher
- Successful completion of 12-15 honors points, either Honors courses or other activities
- Successful participation in 20 hours of Complementary Learning activities annually

The designations that appear in this publication are based on the undergraduate student's progress in the RIT Honors Program as of the end of the preceding fall semester. Final RIT Honors Program designations will be noted on the student's transcript and may be different than the designations in this book.

Commencement Book Listings

Please note that the names in this program are not an official listing of degree recipients. Students must be certified for their degrees following the posting of their final grades.

Only those students who filed their diploma request by the publicized deadline (April 1) are included in this publication. The names of those students who missed the deadline are not included.

Diploma Distribution

Approximately 10 weeks after commencement, graduates will receive their diploma in the mail from the Registrar's Office. To our graduates, please be sure your mailing information is correct in the Student Information System (SIS). If needed, you can set up a special diploma mailing address. Contact the Registrar at <https://www.rit.edu/academicaffairs/registrar/ticket/open.php>

ALMA MATER

Hail, RIT! Together stand
Creating good with mind and hand;
Inspired to learn 'til life is done,
As teachers, learners, all are one!

From RIT, our course is set;
We celebrate a promise kept:
A life, a living you have taught;
Let new horizons now be sought!

With pride in our diversity,
A spirit of community,
We are the ones, the people of
The future, here, at RIT!

RIT History

Respected internationally as a world leader in career-oriented and professional education, Rochester Institute of Technology has been setting an innovative pace since 1829, when a Revolutionary War veteran and the city's namesake, Col. Nathaniel Rochester, became the first president of the Rochester Athenaeum. Founded as a reading society, the Athenaeum charged members a five-dollar annual fee to hear lectures by some of America's best-known orators, including Oliver Wendell Holmes, Horace Greeley, and Ralph Waldo Emerson.

In September 1885, a group of Rochester businessmen founded Mechanics Institute to establish "free evening schools in the city for instruction in drawing and such other branches of studies as are most important for industrial pursuits of great advantage to our people." Henry Lomb was Mechanics Institute's first president.

Mechanics Institute merged in 1891 with Rochester Athenaeum to form the Rochester Athenaeum and Mechanics Institute (RAMI). Comprehensive instruction in mechanical subjects was RAMI's hallmark. The institute's builders responded to both industrial and societal trends in Rochester, and each year the institute graduated increasing numbers of expertly trained professionals who found work in industry, both in Rochester and around the world.

In 1944, in recognition of the increasingly specialized professional nature of its programs, the university adopted the name it holds today: Rochester Institute of Technology.

During each RIT presidency, the university moved to another plane of achievement. Carleton B. Gibson, who took office in 1910, implemented a system that became central to the education of every future student—the cooperative education program, begun in 1912.

When Gibson retired in 1916, America was on the brink of involvement in World War I. His successor, James F. Barker, guided the university during the war years, when its classrooms were filled with military trainees in intensive six-week practical programs. Barker retired when the war ended, leaving Royal B. Farnum to run a school that devoted a large part of its efforts to the rehabilitation of veterans. The first alumni association was formed during Farnum's presidency, a health service was begun for students, and a faculty council was established.

John A. Randall took the reins of the university in 1922. He helped form a balanced vision for RIT as the source of a technical education every bit equal to the classical education available from a traditional university, offering a blend of practical and liberal arts instruction.

In 1936, a young economics professor, Dr. Mark Ellingson, was named to what would become the longest presidency in RIT's history—33 years. During Ellingson's presidency, enrollment at RIT skyrocketed. He brought the Empire School of Printing to RIT from Ithaca. The downtown campus became larger.

During World War II, RIT lost numerous students to military service, but at war's end many returned, and the university's form of education became more popular than ever. The School for American Craftsmen was added, and the university began offering the associate degree. In 1953, RIT received permission to award the bachelor of science degree and, in 1966, the university was approved as the home campus of a new, federally established college, the National Technical Institute for the Deaf. The Ellingson years also saw other changes, such as the establishment of the College of Business (now Saunders College of Business) and the Graphic Arts Research Center.

When the New York State Department of Public Works decided it would build the Inner Loop through the downtown RIT campus, the decision was made to build a new campus in the suburbs. The year RIT moved to its 1,300-acre campus in Henrietta (1968), Ellingson announced his retirement. During his tenure, the assets of the university had grown from $2.3 million to more than $40 million.

In 1969, sociologist Dr. Paul A. Miller became RIT's sixth president. Miller, formerly an assistant secretary of education at the federal level, supervised RIT's maturation. Enrollment increased from 10,000 students to more than 15,000, and programs multiplied extensively. The Nathaniel Rochester Society was founded, and a major fundraising campaign was launched.

RIT's 150th year, 1979, saw major campus celebrations and the first year of Dr. M. Richard Rose's presidency. Dramatic growth and the development of RIT's worldwide reputation as a provider of high-quality education occurred over the next 12 years. Programs in microelectronic engineering, telecommunications, computer engineering, and biotechnology, among others, became examples of RIT's response to industry needs. In 1991, the first students at RIT—and in the nation—in the field of imaging science began their studies. Many campus buildings, including the Hale-Andrews Student Life Center, were completed during Rose's term.

RIT welcomed its eighth president, Dr. Albert J. Simone, in 1992. Under his leadership, RIT grew dramatically. The physical campus underwent a transformation through numerous renovation projects and the addition of several buildings, including the B. Thomas Golisano College of Computing and Information Sciences and the Gordon Field House and Activities Center. Enrollment continued to grow and new academic programs, including four doctoral degree programs and programs in Croatia and Kosovo, were added. One of Dr. Simone's greatest accomplishments was the successful completion of the Campaign for RIT, which raised $309 million in gifts and commitments.

In September 2007, Dr. William W. Destler became RIT's ninth president. With his emphasis on creativity and innovation, RIT began hosting Imagine RIT: Creativity and Innovation Festival. Each spring, this campus-wide event showcases the innovative and creative spirit of RIT students, faculty, and staff. More than 35,000 visitors experience the breadth and depth of RIT through interactive presentations, hands-on demonstrations, exhibitions, and research projects set up throughout campus.

Dr. David C. Munson, Jr., became RIT's tenth president in 2017. He is responsible for one of the leading creative and innovative universities leveraging the power of technology, the arts, and design for the greater good.

Today, RIT enrolls approximately 19,000 full- and part-time students in its nine colleges, the School of Individualized Study, and the Golisano Institute for Sustainability. RIT offers international programs at its global campuses in China, Croatia, Dubai, and Kosovo. Its cooperative education program is recognized as one of the nation's oldest and largest, offering students the opportunity to gain valuable experience and earn funds to support their education. The university has achieved international recognition for its quality career and professional programs, and it has over 140,000 alumni around the world.

College Delegates

Each college selects one undergraduate student and may also select one graduate student to represent degree candidates from the college—students whose overall personal achievement demonstrates the ideals of RIT including, but not limited to, academic achievement.

College of Art and Design

Siobhan Gannon

From Hudson, Massachusetts, Siobhan is graduating with a BFA in film and animation with minors in software engineering and 3D digital design. She also is member of the RIT Honors program and serves as a volunteer 3D modeler for PRESENCE VR, where she creates assets, helps with user testing, and collaborates with an RIT software engineering team to create a VR app for companies to interview art students. Her professional interests include shading, lighting, rendering, rigging, and modeling. Siobhan is the recipient of the RIT Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award, Vicarious Visions In It Together Scholarship, NCWIT Aspirations in Computing Award, and was a 2016 Scholastic Art Award Honorable Mention. She is also the Metrohacks: Women 2018 Social Track Winner. She serves as vice president for RIT's American Cancer Society On Campus.

Selma Pena

From Pennington, New Jersey, Selma is graduating with an MFA in film and animation. She is passionate about writing and coordinating animation projects. Her work includes serving as a production coordinator/writer at MAGIC Spell Studios, where she oversees teams of 3D artists, editors, sound composers, motion picture scientists, and animators; Moonbug Entertainment, where she assists in the implementation of the company's Talent Tracker, a tool that interfaces with a database of potential employees and contractors, develops story, narration, and music ideas for properties including "Little Baby Bum," "Digley and Dazey," and "KiiYii;" co-founder/producer at PeAr Animation Studios, where she creates projects from initial concept to script, and completes key frames, music, and essential artwork; and creative manager for Univision Mexico (Televisa), where she managed a team of writers, artists, and musicians.

Saunders College of Business

Ann-Katherine Candelori

From Glastonbury, Connecticut, Ann-Katherine is graduating with a BS in management information systems with a minor in supply chain management. Ann-Katherine was the recipient of the RIT Presidential Scholarship, D & F Rutty Scholarship, 2020 Community Impact Awardee-Alfred L. and Ruby C. Davis Scholarship, and the Jack Shirman and Peter H. Sykes Endowed scholarships. She also was a two-time Grace Hopper Conference Scholarship Recipient. Ann-Katherine has been the chief academy officer of the Leadership Academy at Saunders and served as the planning committee chairwoman for RIT's Women's Leadership Summit. Following graduation, Ann-Katherine will join Cisco Systems, Inc. as a product management engineer in the Strategy and Planning-Customer Partner Experience Organization.

Kelly Fidler

From Irvine, California, Kelly is graduating with a master of business administration-executive MBA. Kelly leads global therapy awareness marketing strategy for at Edwards Lifesciences for their Transcatheter Aortic Valve Replacement business outside the USA, and she is involved in the development and execution of innovative programs to expand procedural adoption across physician and patient communities. In this global role, Kelly explores a multitude of strategic approaches to therapy awareness and patient access that are the best individual fit for the varied regional health care systems. A passionate sales and marketing leader with more than 25 years in health care diagnostics, device, and pharmaceutical industries, Kelly works hard to develop high-performing teams. She is a highly skilled presenter and storyteller who enjoys motivating audiences to change behavior through a healthy dose of humor and inspiration.

Golisano College of Computing and Information Sciences

Yanika Telus

From Westford, Massachusetts, Yanika is graduating with a BS in human-centered computing. Her co-op experience at SusArc technology allowed her to design and implement a user interface for a remote collaborative document sharing software. She participates in many multicultural clubs on campus including the Black Awareness Coordinating Committee, Organization of African

Students, and the Caribbean Student Association, which has broadened her perspective on the ways technology and culture can be combined. As a first-generation Haitian American she is proud to represent her family's heritage while graduating from a STEM program. Outside of class, she is a digital artist and avid lover of video games. After graduation, she looks forward to solving the more complex problems in life.

Emily Lederman

From Morgantown, West Virginia, Emily is graduating with an MS in human computer interaction. She is the daughter of Chilean immigrants. Deaf since birth, Emily learned American Sign Language as an undergraduate computer science student at RIT/NTID. She worked extensively to create accessible experiences for the Deaf Jewish community. Accessibility in computing is the foundation of Emily's educational and professional goals. For her capstone project, she researched the usability of closed captioning, a technology that millions of Deaf people rely on for access. She has accepted a position with Microsoft as a front-end developer. Emily hopes to leverage this opportunity to become a contributor of, and advocate for, accessibility for humans across the world.

Kate Gleason College of Engineering

Kaden Profit

From Portland, Oregon, Kaden is graduating with a BS degree microelectronic engineering. He has completed co-ops at Micron Technology, Inc., Northrop Grumman, and Texas Instruments. He will complete another co-op with Texas Instruments this summer. In his co-op experiences, Kaden worked as a process and integration engineer on memory, communication/aerospace, analog, and embedded semiconductor devices through photolithography and plasma etching. He is involved with the Microelectronic Engineering Student Association and mentors RIT students. After graduation, Kaden will pursue a master's degree in RIT's engineering management program before pursuing a career in the semiconductor industry

Hannah Dean

From Rochester, New York, Hannah is graduating with an MS in industrial and systems engineering. Hannah is currently working as a parts, materials, and processes engineer at L3Harris Corporation in Rochester, NY. Hannah is a critical and creative thinker who constantly demonstrates her engineering skills by proposing innovative solutions to challenging course projects. She is able to seamlessly integrate her course work with applications she encounters at L3Harris, and her degree will have an immediate impact with her employer.

College of Engineering Technology

Oluwatosin Femi-Lawal

From Lagos, Nigeria, Oluwatosin is graduating with a BS in civil engineering technology. In his first year, he gained field experience working in the construction industry, which served as a gateway experience for his interest in the on-site aspect of the industry. His work included plotting data onto AutoCAD and drafting a representation of the existing road conditions to later plot a proposed sidewalk remodel design. At RIT, Oluwatosin is involved in the Organization of African Students Fashion Showcase, where he shared the beauty of his African heritage. He is the recipient of the 2020-21 Outstanding Scholar Award and served as a 2020-21 RIT Eisenhart Teaching Award Committee Student Representative, President Munson Roundtable Student Panelist, Senator of the National Society of Black Engineers, and Imagine RIT Exhibitor, to name a few.

Allison McClain

From Denver, Colorado, Allison is graduating with an MS in environmental health and safety management. She is the recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Student Scholar Award, Women in Safety Scholarship from the National Safety Council, and the Outstanding Environmental Scholar Award from Air and Waste Management Association. She was accepted to Phi Kappa Phi and was on the RIT Dean's List. During the Urban Poverty course, where students went to The House of Mercy, a homeless shelter in downtown Rochester, Allison began lending her support to the organization and to other organizations in the community. Allison has accepted a position with Evonik as a rotational environmental health and safety specialist.

College of Health Sciences and Technology

Maduka Gunasinghe

From Rochester, New York, Maduka is graduating with a BS in biomedical sciences. He is a member of the RIT Honors program. Maduka is president of the Health Sciences and Technology Student Association, chair of Special Projects in the RIT Honors program, and a teaching assistant for numerous RIT courses. Maduka volunteers at Friends of Strong and the Sri Lanka America Association of Rochester. He completed an internship as a health coach through the Greater Rochester Independent Practice Association. He is the recipient of the 2021-22 Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award and the 2022 Bruce R. James Distinguished Public Service Award. After graduation, Maduka will attend medical school.

Xian Boles

From Midland, Michigan, Xian is graduating with an MFA in medical illustration. She collaborated with researchers to create 2D and 3D Illustrations and animations for various journals, conference presentations, and other educational media. Xian was a graduate assistant, a research assistant, and completed internships at Brigham and Women's Hospital and Boston University.

In these roles, Xian created educational illustrations and animations for surgeons for use in publication, symposiums, and other educational media, and held meetings with medical professionals and mentors. She is a student member of the Association of Medical Illustrators.

School of Individualized Study

Harrison Canning

From West Granby, Connecticut, Harrison is graduating with a BS in applied arts and sciences with concentrations in business, design, and neuroscience. He founded the Neurotechnology Exploration Team, a multidisciplinary student-run research organization that builds assistive brain-computer interface devices, and BCI Guys LLC, a media company that produces digestible neurotechnology content. He was a member of the School of Individualized Study Student Council and a Gap Year Fellow. After graduation, Harrison plans to continue his work as a neurotechnology communicator/educator with BCI Guys and is interested in developing a company that builds software environments for researchers.

Marie Gillum

From Hilton, New York, Marie is graduating with an MS in professional studies. Gillum is the assistant director in RIT's Office of Faculty Diversity and Recruitment. Previously, she served as an associate interpreter in the Department of Access Services. She began her interpreting career with the Department of Access Services following her acceptance in the Apprenticeship Program. Marie also worked as a preceptor for NTID's Randleman Program, where she assisted in recruiting and mentoring BIPOC ASL interpreters. Marie is a member of the Diversity Outreach Committee, which plans and organizes diversity-based presentations to more than 100 staff interpreters annually. She received her bachelor's degree in signed language interpreting from the University of New Mexico. She also has a background in nursing.

College of Liberal Arts

Anika Griffiths

From Miami, Florida, Anika is graduating with a BS in sociology and anthropology. Anika's field experience includes an internship with the Commission on Racial and Structural Equity, examining systemic and institutional racial inequalities; and work as an AmeriCorps Vista and Urban Fellow, developing academic and emotional resources for students at Rochester Prep Charter School. Anika was a research assistant for the college's Department of Student Affairs, an RIT Student Government Women's Senator, and has written for RIT's Reporter magazine. After graduation, Anika plans to work within the Rochester community to further develop her experience before continuing with her education with a master's degree in public health.

Benedicte Adair

From Portland, Oregon, Benedicte is graduating with an MS in science, technology, and public policy. Her field and co-op experiences include analyzing environmental audit concerns, factors affecting product line capacity constraints, and conference-displayed research into piezoelectric sustainable technology. Benedicte has been an RIT research assistant in physics and public policy and was a recipient of the Kearse Undergraduate Writing Award. She also is a member of the Grand Challenge Scholars Honors Program. Benedicte has accepted a position as a process engineer with Materion Corporation, a multinational company specializing in high-performance engineered materials.

National Technical Institute for the Deaf

Maameyaa Asiamah

From Fairfax, Virginia, Maameyaa is graduating with an AAS in laboratory science technology. In the summer 2021, she successfully completed a research experience in computational chemistry at James Madison University where she studied the formation of atmospheric methanol clusters and their possible link to global warming. As part of her research, she won first place in her research program's elevator pitch competition. She is a native ASL signer and she serves in the NTID Department of Access Services as an ASL consultant. Maameyaa is also a research assistant in NTID's Deaf Health Lab. She served as president of Hands of Fire, secretary of the Asian Deaf Club, and was a member of the Randleman Program, working with interpreters who are people of color. Maameyaa will continue her studies at RIT in the biochemistry BS program.

Lia Horyczun

From Trumbull, Connecticut, Lia is graduating with an MS in secondary education of students who are deaf or hard of hearing. She was a student-teacher at The Learning Center for The Deaf in Framingham, MA, where she taught English Language Arts in grades 9 through 12. She serves as a teacher's assistant for RIT/NTID's Development English course and at Margaret's House, RIT's on-campus day care. She also was an undergraduate research assistant, peer advisor for incoming first-year students, and a New Student Orientation Leader. She worked and studied abroad in Italy, researching similarities and differences between the American and Italian deaf communities. She participated in the RIT Honors Program's Puerto Rico Natural Disaster Relief Trip and Alternative Spring Break.

College of Science

Quinn Kolt

From Solon, Ohio, Quinn is graduating with a BS in applied mathematics and computer science with a minor in applied statistics and an immersion in psychology. They are a member of the RIT Honors program, Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and Pi Mu Epsilon Mathematics Society. Quinn was a Barry M. Goldwater Scholar, RIT School of Mathematical Sciences Fortnight Problems Fellow, John Wiley Jones Outstanding Student in Science, and an RIT Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar. Quinn led RIT's transgender and nonbinary support group and tutored for the Higher Education Opportunity Program and Collegiate Science and Technology Entry Program. Throughout their undergraduate studies, Quinn researched inverse problems, fusion categories, and pure probability theory. After graduation, they will pursue a Ph.D. in mathematics, with plans to become a professor and help students learn about themselves and their passions.

Rema Amawi

From Safad, Palestine, Rema is graduating with a Ph.D. in color science. Her dissertation was on the Effects of Pill Colors on Human Perception and Expectation of Drugs' Efficacy. In 2015, Rema began her RIT career at RIT Dubai as a faculty member teaching chemistry and biology. She continued her responsibilities as a full-time faculty member, expanding RIT Dubai's science offerings (courses and labs), while completing her doctorate degree online and in-person at RIT's main campus in Rochester, NY. She is the first RIT doctoral student to graduate with primary residency at the RIT Dubai campus. She earned her BS degree in biochemistry from Wichita State University and a postgraduate degree in inorganic chemistry from Baylor University. Rema looks forward to continuing her career at RIT Dubai with research interests in the effects of color in the pharmaceutical industry, and the chemical screening and identification of compounds obtained from natural resources.

Golisano Institute for SustainabilityDiana Rodriguez Alberto

From Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Diana is graduating with her Ph.D. in sustainability. Her research includes technological innovations for food waste management. She earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry at the Universidad Autonoma de Santo Domingo and a master of science degree in chemistry from RIT. She mentors high school students as well as students pursuing their undergraduate and graduate degrees. After graduation, Diane will begin a postdoctoral position at RIT's Golisano Institute for Sustainability as part of a new multi-university project funded by the National Science Foundation.

RIT ChinaJiayu Li

From Weihai, China, Jiayu Li is graduating with a BS in management information systems from RIT China. She is the RIT China representative for the 2021 and 2022 graduating classes. Jiayu completed internships in Ernst & Young Global Limited, IBM, and Digital China. At RIT China, Jiayu served as a vice president and academic director of the International Communication Association and was a team leader of the Model Apec school team. She also participated in the establishment of a student/staff committee at RIT China, bridging the gap between the students and professors. After graduation, Jiayu plans to pursue a master's degree in business analytics at Washington University in St. Louis and plans to become a professional consultant.

RIT CroatiaFilip Stanišić

From Podgorica, Montenegro, Stanišić is graduating with a BS in hospitality and tourism management. Filip is the recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award. At RIT Croatia, Filip was a teaching assistant for College Algebra, Introduction to Statistics 1 and 2, Financial Accounting, and Strategic Financial Analysis. He also served as a co-moderator of a panel discussion at the Career Education Day and helped in the development of the hotel and F&B simulations. Filip is completing internships at Porto Montenegro, where he worked as an innovation center coordinator; HTP Korčula Port 9 Hotel, where he was a hotel manager assistant; and Zizoo, which he was a partner success intern.

RIT DubaiKriz George

From Dubai, United Arab Emirates, Kriz is graduating with a BS in mechanical engineering. Kriz served in various positions in the RIT Dubai Student Government, including being elected vice president. He was also active in several clubs including the Music Club, where he performed and taught the violin. He was a founding member of the Drama Club and also served as president of the Improv/

Comedy Club. Kriz has represented RIT as a competitor in several poetry and music competitions and in the Formula SAE competition, where he is currently part of the powertrain and cooling team. Kriz plans on pursuing a career in STEM education while further developing his knowledge of the mechanical engineering field.

RIT KosovoErzë Ahmeti

From Prishtina, Kosovo, Erzë is graduating with a BS in applied arts and sciences with concentrations in web and mobile computing, management, and entrepreneurship and an immersion in economics. She is a 2022 recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award and a member of the RIT chapter of The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi. She is also an RIT Kosovo Honors Program student for the 2021-22 academic year. Erzë served as president and generation representative of the RIT Kosovo Charity Club and was a member of numerous

With light as the key component for all things visual, this symbol represents the College of Art and Design with radiating rays of light. It is a combination of concentric circles and angled forms that allude to two- and three-dimensional design, a camera lens, a printing cylinder, and the human eye.

Arrows pointing in many directions signifies the diverse activities of Saunders College of Business. The arrows, a common symbol in business, reflect the financial, marketing, and entrepreneurial directions of business. The multiple directions in which they point intimate two-way transaction and constant exchange in the global marketplace.

This strong mechanical symbol represents the many facets of Kate Gleason College of Engineering. Its configuration suggests a structured, cohesive system with connectivity, interaction, and movement. The circular terminals at the ends of the intersecting stems suggest a balance of humanistic-social subjects, physical sciences, and professional studies.

Concentric circles around a nucleus exemplifies the interrelationship among different programs within the College of Engineering Technology. Each pathway flowing around the center is linked, showing bridges that allow for many different career paths. The mechanical nature and precision of the pathways suggest science, technology, engineering, and service.

ASSOCIATE VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

Emanating rays of light personify deaf and hard-of-hearing students, each an individual, yet preparing together for technological careers, ready to go in all directions in a global society, represented by the circular shape. The allusion to an eye conveys the importance of visual communication, and the center represents the beacon that is the National Technical Institute for the Deaf.

The classic symbol of the atom as the fundamental building block of matter represents the College of Science. The symbol signifies an inner core with outer rings that orbit the central nucleus, conveying the perfect harmony through which physics, biology, chemistry, mathematics, and statistics coexist.

DIRECTOR

With an image representing water, wind, and the Earth, this insignia symbolizes the energy of the sun, which powers clean energy, healthy environments, and pollution prevention. The inner gear, surrounded by leaves, reinforces the central ideas of sustainability: remanufacturing, diverse and productive ecosystems, nanopower, government and society, and the management of human consumption.

For the Convenience of Our Guests

Information

Information booths are located across campus. Look for volunteers wearing yellow ribbons; they are happy to assist you.

College Commencement Ceremonies

Commencement is a milestone in each candidate's life and that of the candidate's guests. Excitement, joy, and enthusiasm are strongly encouraged!

To ensure everyone's safety, however, the following items are prohibited: air horns, balls, balloons, beach balls, marbles, laser pointers, noise makers, inflatables, alcohol, firearms, explosives, fireworks, and sparklers. Service dogs are the only animals permitted inside of ceremony venues. Smoking, including e-cigarettes, is not permitted in any of RIT's facilities.

Wireless Network Access

People without an RIT username can connect to the "RIT-Guest" wireless network. Open a Web browser and follow the on-screen prompts to get internet access. Please note the following about this service

- Guests must have a phone number capable of receiving text messages in order to register (carrier text message rates may apply).
- RIT guest access prohibits access to some internal RIT network resources.
- Students, employees, and others with RIT computer accounts should continue to use the encrypted RIT wireless network.
- If you have any questions about guest wireless at RIT, please contact the RIT Service Center at 585-475-5000.
- Students and staff of other universities may be eligible to access the internet via eduroam. Please visit the eduroam site for information.

Food

RIT Dining Services offers a variety of dining experiences. Visit www.rit.edu/diningservices for details on locations, hours, and menu selections.

Interpreting Services and FM Hearing Assistance

The Academic Convocation and the college commencement ceremonies are sign-language interpreted, real-time captioned, and streamed live. The Golisano Institute for Sustainability ceremony will be sign-language interpreted but will not be real-time captioned or live-streamed. The Gordon Field House and Activities Center and the Gene Polisseni Center are equipped with FM hearing assistance systems. Receivers are available at the ticket office in the main lobby of each facility.

Accessibility

A small number of golf carts operated by RIT staff are available at various locations for individuals with limited mobility. Look for carts with blue flags. Demand for carts is highest after each ceremony so guests may have to wait up to 15 minutes for a cart at those times.

Barnes & Noble @ RIT College Bookstore

Located at 100 Park Point Drive, the store offers an assortment of RIT -imprinted clothing and gifts, books, and supplies, computer and electronics hardware and software, cameras, photo equipment and kits, and accessories. Please check the store's website (rit.bncollege.com) for hours of operations.

Photographs

Professional photographers from GradImages are at each commencement ceremony to photograph students as they cross the stage. You will be contacted directly by GradImages with information about ordering photographs. For more information or to preregister your e-mail address for proofs, visit www.gradimages.com.

Digital Downloads

Digital downloads of each ceremony and the Academic Convocation may be ordered online at vimeo.com/ondemand/rit2022 and will be available on May 31. Tutorials on how to purchase digital downloads will be available at ceremony locations during Commencement Weekend. Digital downloads are $20 per ceremony.

Blue Light Call Boxes

Call boxes indicated by blue lights are located across campus. If you need assistance of any type, please open the box and push the red button. You will be immediately connected with an RIT Public Safety dispatcher. You may wish to download the Tiger Safe App.

Lost and Found

Lost and found locations are available in the Gordon Field House and Activities Center and the Gene Polisseni Center. At the end of each day, all items will be turned over to RIT Public Safety in Grace Watson Hall. To report a lost item, please complete an online form found at www.rit.edu/publicsafety/report-lost-item.
