

Computing Security Student Ambassadors

Student Ambassadors

Computing Security (CSEC) Student Ambassadors are a unique group of students that assist the Computing Security department with their efforts to attract and retain students and represent the department at various events throughout the year. CSEC Student Ambassadors are essential to the success of the program! Once a year, by invitation, current CSEC students are invited to join this group.

Profile of a typical CSEC Ambassador

- Interested in promoting CSEC
- Academically successful
- Leadership and service oriented

Benefits to becoming a CSEC Ambassador

- Leadership and service experience on your resume
- Letters of recommendation when they are needed
- Ambassador polo shirt

Do you have what it takes to be a CSEC Ambassador?

Interested students should contact Megan Fritts, Office Manager mcfics@rit.edu for more information.
