* Under the new exam requirements, Interior Design graduates were eligible in 2014 to sit for the first part of the three part exam following graduation from an education with qualifying credentials. Graduates are eligible to take the remaining two exams after completing the required internship or practical experience hours as dictated by their work pathway.
To our knowledge, no students attempted the first part of the exam in 2014.

The first cohort of Architecture graduates will be eligible to sit for the licensing exam starting in 2016.
