What is Title IX?

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sexual discrimination in educational program and activities. The specific language of the law is “No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.”

For more information, visit: www.rit.edu/titleix
What does Title IX specifically prohibit?

Gender Discrimination: The unlawful treatment of an individual based on that individual’s gender; also includes sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and sexual violence.

Sexual Misconduct: Any form of unwanted sexual contact. Unwanted sexual contact means against a person’s wishes or without consent, including those instances which the individual is unable to give consent because of unconsciousness, sleep, impairment, incapacitation or intoxication due to alcohol or other drugs.

Sexual Harassment: Unwelcomed conduct of a sexual nature which is made a condition of employment or academic status, or unreasonably interferes with the work or educational environment.

Sexual Violence: Any act of a sexual nature prohibited by applicable federal, state or local laws including, but not limited to rape, sexual abuse, sexual assault, sexual battery and sexual coercion.

Title IX also protects individuals from retaliation for reporting acts of discrimination listed above.

Employee Responsibilities

With few exceptions, all faculty and staff are considered “responsible employees” under the law. As such, employees are required to notify a Title IX coordinator about incidents of sexual violence or misconduct.

What does it mean to “notify” someone?

Simply contact RIT’s Title IX coordinator or a deputy coordinator (listed in this brochure) if you are made aware of an incident. You will need to share the complainant’s name with the coordinator.

Does the university have policies that cover this issue?

Yes, and all employees should be familiar with those policies, which include:

- C6.0 Policy Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment
- D18.0 Student Conduct Process
- D18.1 Alcohol and Other Drugs
- D.19.0 Student Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct

These policies are available in the governance library on RIT’s policy website: www.rit.edu/~w-policy
