Important Notice from
Rochester Institute of Technology
New Health Insurance Marketplace Coverage
Options and Your Health Coverage

WE ARE SENDING YOU THIS NOTICE AS REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LAW.

PART A: General Information
When key parts of the health care law take effect in 2014, there will be a new way to buy health insurance: the Health Insurance Marketplace. To assist you as you evaluate options for you and your family, this notice provides some basic information about the new Marketplace and employment based health coverage offered by RIT.

What is the Health Insurance Marketplace?
The Marketplace is designed to help you find health insurance that meets your needs and fits your budget. The Marketplace offers "one-stop shopping" to find and compare private health insurance options. You may also be eligible for a new kind of tax credit that lowers your monthly premium right away. Open enrollment for health insurance coverage through the Marketplace begins in October 2013 for coverage starting as early as January 1, 2014.

Can I Save Money on my Health Insurance Premiums in the Marketplace?
You may qualify to save money and lower your monthly premium, but only if your employer does not offer coverage, or offers coverage that doesn't meet certain standards. The savings on your premium that you're eligible for depends on your household income. You are not eligible for RIT coverage.

Does Employer Health Coverage Affect Eligibility for Premium Savings through the Marketplace?
Yes. If you have an offer of health coverage from your employer that meets certain standards, you will not be eligible for a tax credit through the Marketplace and may wish to enroll in your employer's health plan. However, you may be eligible for a tax credit that lowers your monthly premium, or a reduction in certain cost-sharing if your employer does not offer coverage to you at all or does not offer coverage that meets certain standards. If the cost of a plan from your employer that would cover you (and not any other members of your family) is more than 9.5% of your household income for the year, or if the coverage your employer provides does not meet the "minimum value" standard set by the Affordable Care Act, you may be eligible for a tax credit (an employer-sponsored health plan meets the "minimum value standard" if the plan's share of the total allowed benefit costs covered by the plan is no less than 60 percent of such costs).

Note: If you purchase a health plan through the Marketplace instead of accepting health coverage offered by your employer, then you may lose the employer contribution (if any) to the employer-offered coverage. Also, this employer contribution as well as your employee contribution to employer-offered coverage is excluded from income for Federal and State income tax purposes. Your payments for coverage through the Marketplace are made on an after-tax basis.

How Can I Get More Information?
For more information about coverage offered by your employer, please check the plan’s summary plan description on the HR website or contact your benefits representative in the Human Resources Department based on the first letter of your last name as follows:

For information about employee health coverage (if eligible):

Here is some basic information about health coverage offered by this employer:

- As your employer, we offer a health plan to some employees. Eligible employees are regular full-time and regular extended part-time employees.
- With respect to dependents, we do offer coverage. An eligible dependent is:
  - The employee’s spouse or domestic partner; and
  - A child who is under age 26 who is:
    - the natural or adopted child of the employee or the employee’s spouse;
    - the natural or adopted child of the employee’s domestic partner;
    - any other child for whom the employee is the legal guardian or custodian, and who resides in the employee’s home, and who is claimed as a tax dependent on the employee’s federal income tax return; and
  - A foster child (under age 18), defined as an individual who is placed with the employee by an authorized placement agency or by judgment decree, or other court order.

This coverage meets the minimum value standard, and the cost of this coverage to you is intended to be affordable, based on employee wages.

Even if your employer intends your coverage to be affordable, you may still be eligible for a premium discount through the Marketplace. The Marketplace will use your household income, along with other factors, to determine whether you may be eligible for a premium discount. If, for example, your wages vary from week to week (perhaps you are an hourly employee or you work on a commission basis), if you are newly employed mid-year, or if you have other income losses, you may still qualify for a premium discount.

If you decide to shop for coverage in the Marketplace, www.HealthCare.gov will guide you through the process.

Coverage Eligibility: In your current position, you are not eligible for coverage under RIT's employee medical plans.
