

It Has Never Been More Important than Now!

Pursue a Minor in Global Public Health

Explore how a minor in global public health can help you prepare for medical, dental, nursing, PA, and other graduate school options. It can also position you for many public health-related careers right after graduation. Learn how you can make a positive impact in the world!

As the world confronts COVID-19, HIV/AIDS, and other infectious diseases, gun violence, pervasive mental health struggles, and disparities in access to care, it is clear that an expanded knowledge of these issues is essential to meet the health challenges of our modern world.
