

ROAR & SOAR

RIT | College of Liberal Arts

Take Part in RIT Traditions

Successful students take time to connect with friends, classmates, family, and alumni during RIT's Brick City events.

3 Ways to ROAR this Week:

- Invite your family and friends. Next weekend is Brick City Homecoming & Family Weekend! From Oct. 17-19, you can explore a wide range of fun events inside and outside your major - a perfect opportunity to show your friends and family what makes RIT so special. Visit a lab you've never seen, cheer on a sports team, or experience something new.
- Plan ahead. Brick City events do sell out so it's important to register ahead of time. You also might need to help your visitors with hotel and travel information so check out the advice from another student on how to make the weekend a success.
- Network and get to know some fascinating people. Social mixers hosted by COLA during Brick City Weekend are a great opportunity to get to know your professors outside of class. Plus, alumni often attend! Talk with fascinating, fun, and inspiring people and take advantage of this chance to begin to build your network. You never know when a casual connection might open a door.

Check out the full Brick City Weekend line-up

Calendar Spotlights

Build-a-Tiger

SATURDAY, OCT. 18

9 a.m.-1 p.m., Student Hall for Exploration and Development (SHED), Room 3300

Bagels + Brainpower: Breakfast with the COLA Team

SATURDAY, OCT. 18

9 a.m.-11 a.m., Student Hall for Exploration and Development (SHED), Room 3350