

ROAR & SOAR

RIT | College of Liberal Arts

Manage Your Time.

Successful students know the key to a great first year is finding a balance between classwork, social life, and everything else.

3 Ways to ROAR this Week:

- Organize your calendar. Time management and organization skills are the keys to academic success. Add due dates from your syllabus and the meeting dates from your clubs in your calendar now.
- Make a to-do list. RIT offers great to-do list templates and a semester-long calendar to keep track of what is due 3-4 weeks out.
- Learn how you learn. How long should you study for? Everyone learns differently so check out the worksheets, videos, and even coaching that RIT offers to help you identify the right study skills for you.

◀ “To Do” List, Weekly Schedule, Semester Calendar, Project Planning Worksheets, Exam study Plan Downloadables

Calendar Spotlight

MONDAY, SEPT. 8, 6 – 7 p.m., Fredericka Douglass Sprague Perry Hall, Room 1250. Study Skills & Strategies. Drop in for simple, practical tips for staying organized and managing your time.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 10, 12 – 1 p.m., Liberal Arts Hall, Room 2233 Wildcard Wednesday for College of Liberal Arts Students.

The first in a four-week series of fun, unfiltered, friendly sessions to help you explore your future—without the pressure. All sessions include free food. Attend 3 or more sessions to get a custom "Wildcard."