

ROAR & SOAR

RIT | College of Liberal Arts

3 Use Your Resources

Successful students know how to use their resources to get help when they need it.

3 Ways to ROAR this Week:

- Find the tutoring centers. You can get tutoring by subject, in a residence hall, with the Division for Diversity and Inclusion, and through NTID. It's GOOD to ask for help so bookmark these resources or, even better, try one this week. > rit.edu/tutoring-at-rit
- Go to office hours. Have you introduced yourself to your professors yet? (Yes, say hello outside of class!) Find your professors' offices or figure out their online office hour schedules now so that you'll have a connection when questions come up later on.
- Check myRIT for information. Need to log in myCourses or SIS? Looking for financial info with eServices? MyRIT is the university hub for where to go and who to ask for help on a wide range of student resources. > rit.edu/myrit

Calendar Spotlight

Change of Major Fair, Thurs., Jan. 30, 12 - 2 p.m., SHED

Figuring out if a change of major is right for you? Come to the Change of Major Fair to talk with people from all RIT colleges, Career Counseling, and the University Advising Office about what's needed to change majors.

RIT FreezeFest, Jan. 27 - Feb. 8

Embrace the snowy season with opportunities for fun on-campus and off-campus. From entertainment to food, free swag to DIY activities, there's something for everyone at FreezeFest.