Foundation

In the recent discussion on gun violence, much of the focus has been on the specific circumstances of high-profile, news-worthy cases. While those tragedies are horrendous and unforgettable, a closer look into facts surrounding gun violence shows us that school shootings, mass shooting sprees, and ‘assault rifle’ attacks make up only a small portion of all firearm-related violence.

Research and crime statistics tell a very different story than what is portrayed in the media. In 2011, handguns accounted for 72% of firearm homicides, while all rifles accounted for just under 4%. Studies find that a large number of shootings occur as an extension of some type of dispute or other conflict. Within these circumstances, the next step is to break down and identify similarities among incidents, to better understand the reality of the circumstances of gun violence.

Objectives

- Extract & categorize characteristics of shootings
- Examine types of victim/offender relationships
- Identify a logical typology of shooting circumstances
- Observe the relationship between type of circumstance and outcome
- Shed light on the realities of the circumstances of gun violence

Types of Assault Shooting Circumstances

![Diagram showing the typology of assault shootings]

- Dispute Involved
  - Social
    - Romantic
    - Domestic
    - Personal
  - Material
    - $/Debts
    - Property
    - Drugs
  - Turf wars

- Purely Instrumental
  - (material gain)
    - Robbery
    - Burglary
    - Sex Assault

Implications & Future Research

- In-depth examination of types of disputes
- Expand research to include non-shooting events
- Impact of circumstance on outcome of shooting
- Identifying other similar characteristics between similar cases
  - Weapon type
  - Injury
  - # people involved
- Use findings to produce focused interventions
- Predicting & preventing ongoing retaliation
- Determine relationship between:
  - Social relationship and circumstance
  - Relationship and outcome
  - Circumstance and outcome
