

Joan Naturale is the NTID Reference Librarian at the RIT Wallace Center and is a liaison with the National Technical Institute for the Deaf

Joan has applied her two master's degrees (Deaf education and library science) in the creation of numerous guides and websites to facilitate access to NTID/RIT collections. She has developed multiple collections related to Deaf people in a variety of platforms. Joan regularly teaches classes and workshops to academics, students, and the general public on how to use today's technology to obtain and share information. Joan played a significant role in the creation of NTID's Deaf Studies Archives. She has been an active participant in film festivals and art shows, and has developed online guides to help others appreciate Deaf Studies interdisciplinary resources.
