Housing

This document provides information about housing at and near RIT. You can also find helpful information at our website (http://www.rit.edu/studentaffairs/iss/) under ‘Life at RIT’.

Incoming freshmen are guaranteed housing and must live in the Residence Halls during their freshman year. Incoming graduate students may apply for either on-campus/RIT housing, or off-campus housing.

There are several pros and cons for each, and students should select the option that best fits their need.

RIT Housing:

Pros

1. There are shuttles running to campus every day, every 15 minutes. If you live in the Residence Halls, Riverknoll, or the University Commons complexes near the academic buildings, you will be able to walk to class, the library or dining facilities on campus. This is particularly helpful during winter time.

2. In addition, there are students and staff members through the Center for Residence Life who are able to assist with any situations during and after office hours.

3. The Residence Halls and University Commons apartments are furnished.

4. There are also buses that run to convenience stores, grocery stores, the mall, etc. on the weekends.

5. Complete list of pros: http://www.rit.edu/fa/housing/content/benefits-rit-housing

Cons

1. Living on campus can be a little more expensive than living off-campus. The rates for on-campus housing can be found here:
2. You may not always know your roommate before the start of the school year. If your roommate leaves, you will be assigned a randomly placed student (unless you can find a friend to take the spot, which is very common)

3. There is no kitchen in the Residence Halls or RIT Inn, however there are kitchens in on-campus apartment complexes.

4. If spaces fill up, students are temporarily placed at the RIT Inn, which is 10 minutes from campus, but there are shuttles running to campus every 15 minutes. The RIT Inn is also fully furnished but can feel more like a hotel than an apartment.

Off-Campus Housing:

Pros

1. May be fully furnished or unfurnished (please check under the “off-campus housing” section)

2. Is typically cheaper than living on-campus (see exceptions under the “off-campus housing” section)

3. You are more likely to know your apartment mates before you arrive

Cons

1. No Residence Life support staff.

2. Can be far away from campus. Some of the ones that are further away either don’t have buses running to campus everyday (such as Westbrook Commons) or have limited buses running to campus (particularly on the weekends).

Crittenden Way apartments are emerging as a new favorite option for off campus housing. They have affordable 1 Bedroom and 2 Bedroom apartments. These apartments like rustic are not furnished. Though affordable, bus stop is a little far (a 7 min walk) and free shuttles do not stop here. Students need to walk to Rustic bus stops (a 10 mins walk) to make use of the frequent shuttles. You can look for roommates on RIT’s Accepted Students Facebook group to make arrangements before arriving.

This apartment complex is located about 5 minutes off campus. There are no shuttle services running from Westbrook to RIT, and it is ideal for students with cars (or for students whose roommates have cars).
