Orientation welcomes you to RIT! This is the first of a series of newsletters you will receive this summer. Each includes required steps to take and information you will need to know. This information can also be found in your Welcome Guide and on our website.

Steps to be completed:

1. Activate your RIT computer account and RIT email before July 15. Many action steps you need to take require that you have your RIT email account activated. You have received an account activation email to the email address you used when applying to RIT.

2. Register for Move-In Day and Orientation alerts. Text 888777 to RITORI to receive immediate text alerts and updates on Move-In Day.

3. Return your health history and immunization forms by July 1. You are required to have your RIT email account activated in order to access the wellness portal to upload your health documents.

4. RIT Message Center is our way to communicate with you about campus events and important updates related to RIT. To personalize your user preferences so that you don't miss important information about Orientation, go to rit.edu/marketing/message-center so that you don't get overwhelmed with the number of emails coming to your RIT email inbox.

5. Take the online Math Placement Exam (MPE) if required by your department. The MPE will be open from May 15-June 30, 2019.
New Student Orientation

Orientation is a series of events, activities, and opportunities developed to assist you and your family in transitioning to life at RIT. The six-day program is designed for you and your family to get acclimated to the campus. During this time, you will be given resources that will set you up for academic success, build connections with other students and families, and provide you a sense of belonging within your RIT Tiger community.

Family Orientation will take place from August 20-21. For more information, check out Parent & Family Program resources, and have your family watch out for the Family Orientation Newsletter this month.

In preparing for your arrival to RIT, visit the New Student Checklist page on our website or refer to your Welcome Guide for a complete new student checklist. For more information and required steps pertaining to your academic program, visit the Academic Checklists tab.
