

Doney Oatman has worked at NTID at RIT for almost 20 years as a sign language interpreter. She started out in the College of Imaging Arts and Sciences where she stayed for 14 years as a staff interpreter. She then moved into a coordinator role for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences for a 4 year term before embarking on her current exciting position as the Special Assistant to the NTID VP/Dean for Interpretation and Special Projects. Doney holds an undergraduate degree in Sociology with concentrations in Psychology and Language. She is close to completing a graduate degree in Service Administration Management.